SKINCEUTICALS®

Our line of advanced organic skincare products is designed to prevent future damage, protect healthy skin, and correct previous damage.

Facial Rejuvenation

There are many ways to enhance your beauty. The skin is the largest organ of the human body and as important as any facial surgery is rejuvenation of the skin. Chronological aging, unfavorable genetics, environmental pollutants, sun damage, and smoking are some of the factors that contribute to the appearance and health of your skin.

Many options exist today to rejuvenate skin damaged by the sun and other factors. Peels, Intense Pulsed Light (IPL), dermabrasion and laser procedures offer varied treatment strategies for the skin. Rather than use only one technique, we often use combinations of different treatments depending on the type and severity of your condition. The laser can remove unwanted dark pigmentation and capillaries without discernible recovery time while other procedures require more time for recovery. Dr. LaPatka and his staff will consult with you about all types of skin rejuvenation techniques and determine the treatment or combination of treatments that are best for you.
